

For the vast majority of small market broadcasters the proposal to force recording of all program and archive them is not only a breach of the First Amendment, but a totally unnecessary financial burden. Our small 4 station group in Dubuque, Iowa operates with the highest of professional standards. To punish good broadcasters for the alleged "sins" and abuses of a tiny minority of so-called "personalities" is like pounding a tack with a sledge hammer.

The FCC was created to guide the technical aspects of broadcasting...NOT the content of programming. While I agree that the smut programming is offensive, it is NOT the defined responsibility of the FCC to police what is said on the radio.

This entire process borders on fascism, or worse.
